

PRODIGO'S DATA SERVICES DEPARTMENT PROVIDES ENHANCED GLOBAL ITEM MASTER DURING CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

Since the outbreak of COVID19, health systems and hospitals have had to respond to quickly source items approved for use to protect frontline workers. Hospital supply chains are being challenged to align new demand requirements with industry-wide product shortages. With over 20% of the Nation's largest Health Systems as customers, Prodigo knows that protecting workers is paramount to winning the war against this virus and is collaborating within its community of leading health systems and manufacturers to provide alternative/substitute items that can be incorporated into their procurement workflow.

This list of commonly procured items during the COVID-19 crisis has been enriched with important attributes and made available to help supply chains seamlessly convert to alternative sources. Below, you will see a sample of item records that have been enriched with attributes from Prodigo's Global Catalog.

As Providers pivot to new suppliers, Prodigo is sharing data as it becomes available to smooth supply chain disruption and ensure clinical staff have access to adequate protection and the item information they need to safely respond to patients. . An agile supply chain can only run efficiently when the data it is receiving is enriched with accurate data that is responsive to clinician staff needs.

PRODIGO'S DATA SERVICES DEPARTMENT PROVIDES ENHANCED GLOBAL ITEM MASTER DURING CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

To support our customers, Prodigo continues to monitor NIOSH and update the list of EUA (Emergency Use Authorization) items; providing enriched product attributes sourced from high quality manufacturer data. Item attributes include industry standard short descriptions, UNSPSC, image URLs, device identifiers (GTINs). The goal is to provide a full listing of these items with their attributes to ease integration of new manufacturer items into the health system sourcing and procurement workstream.

If your supply chain department is being asked to add new items, we can assist in the enrichment of those items to provide you with a quality data set to update your Item Master and downstream systems. If you are interesting in discussing how Prodigo's Data Hub can assist with integration of new content into your ecosystem, please contact your Account Manager or our Data Services team at data@prodigosolutions.com. Prodigo will provide you with access to quality data to update your item master and downstream systems; expanding capacity by making supply chain administration more efficient and ensuring accurate data can be integrated with clinicians on the frontlines.
